

GOD CAME RUNNING

A GIRL HUNTED BY DARKNESS. A GOD WALKING TOWARD A CROSS.
WHEN ETERNITY TOUCHES TIME,
LOVE BREAKS—TO REMAKE THE WORLD.

Angels shouldn't have questions.

Lancello has one he cannot escape: Why mercy for them?

As Heaven's scribe, he has recorded human lives for millennia. The cross changed everything—and each fresh salvation deepens his doubt.

Mercy feels unjust. Humanity, undeserving.

So when Father sends him to Jasmine—a wounded writer whose calling could either reach the broken or shatter her entirely—he expects to find more wasted grace. Instead, he discovers what it costs to hold faith in the dark...
and a girl who clings anyway.

The Underworld must snuff her fire.

Heaven can only wait for her surrender.

And Lancello? He must confront the truth he has been resisting since the day a Carpenter carried His cross.

Past and present. Heaven and Hell. All drawn toward the same mystery:
a Father who runs toward the lost,
and a Love willing to be broken to make the broken whole.

God Came Running, a sweeping, cinematic novel about the fierce tenderness of God.
